Important Industry News

Supporting our industry...the Art Glass industry of NZ needs our support, not only to prosper but to ensure its continual growth. Within NZ we are fortunate to have two hard working organizations committed to prosperity of Art Glass and its Artists and trades people alike. For you the artists - NZSAG (NZ society of artists in glass) and its committee work very hard, through their newsletter, to promote and host exhibitions and events with guest tutors and judges throughout New Zealand. Funding is 100% derived from membership so please subscribe to www.nzsag.co.nz and support your industry. In support we offer flexible discount rates to all SAG members.

The second of these organizations is AGANZ (art glass association of New Zealand) which is under the national flat glass body of GANZ (glass association of New Zealand). One goal for the committee of AGANZ is working closely with standards NZ to develop of Code of Conduct for the manufacture and restoration of leaded and stained glass panels. Also high on our list is working with architects, builders and local bodies (namely council building inspectors) to clarify the current glazing specifications surrounding leaded panels and future training programs to ensure skilled trades people to carry on our good work. We urge all studios and trades people to join GANZ and have your say toward these important issues and being promoted on the AGANZ website as a recommended artist in your area. More info at www.ganz.co.nz. Leadlight Products is proud to be a active member of both organizations.

Your Handy Hint

Storage of lead came

Always keep un-used lead came wrapped up in a dry dark place. This will ensure the came to be in its best possible state come your next project. (remember once opened, boxes of lead came not stored properly will not keep for long periods without becoming harder to solder)
